Dedicated to Bluebird Enthusiasts

The Florida Bluebird Society's mission is the conservation and protection of bluebirds and other federally protected cavity nesting bird species in North America. The FBS encourages a collaborative effort from its members and readers to provide information, ideas and articles to help collect and disseminate pertinent and relevant information pertaining to bluebirds in Florida.

The FBS is an affiliate of the North American Bluebird Society.

The Bluebird Clutch Gallery

We would love to fly into your backyard and see pictures of your bluebirds or nesting cavity birds with informative and interesting stories you may have about them.

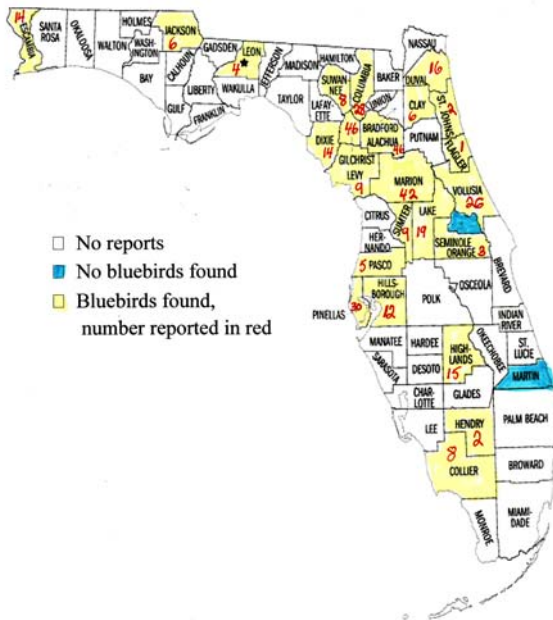

Please keep pictures to a maximum of 5 for each submission and a short story if you have one. We may have to edit your submission to accommodate space or to complement other newsletter content for that issue.

We can use several submissions per monthly issue so we will save multiples received for future issues. Please email your nature pictures and stories to Barbie Arms, FBS Corresponding Secretary at floridabluebirds@aol.com

Deadline for submissions for the March issue is March 12, 2012

Statewide Bluebird Blitz Results

Fall 2011 Blitz Results

During our Fall 2011 Statewide Bluebird Blitz sixty-six participants reported 371 bluebirds in twenty-six counties around the state. Possibly the most notable aspect of this Blitz was that we had first-time reports from eight Counties. Our Blitz is expanding and we are beginning to think that someday we might actually get reports from all Counties.

To conduct a meaningful analysis of our data we will need to conduct a few more Blitzes. For data interpretation consistency is important. We encourage everyone to participate in every Blitz.

The result map has been posted to our web site. Please mark your calendar so you don't forget to participate in the Spring Bluebird Blitz to be held April 13 & 14.

Bluebird Trivia

Did You Know....?

Eastern bluebirds belong to the family of birds known as Thrushes (Turdidae). They are closely related to the birds pictured below which are wood thrush, hermit thrush and American robin. Members of this family have similar beaks, similar body shapes, and have relatively long legs. Their diets are also comparable.

Board Member-at-Large

Dr. Katie Sieving

Professor

Department of Wildlife Ecology and Conservation, University of Florida

I teach and work with UF students and faculty on conservation and ecology-related projects all over the world (currently in Chile, Florida, Cambodia, Sri Lanka). My students have been and are involved in projects with Bluebirds in two areas mainly.

1. We've investigated bluebird reproduction on farms compared to natural areas and although overall reproduction rates on a seasonal basis can be similar on farms and natural areas, the farms cause more disturbance and less stable food resources for the birds than natural areas – so bluebirds on farms work harder for the same number of kids.

2. We are testing whether bluebirds listen to the predators around them and adjust their reproductive effort to the amount of predation risk they perceive from hawks. We will determine this year, with nest boxes on campus, whether an increased presence of hawks causes clutch size to be reduced. We have some preliminary data that it does.

Hobbies are hiking, dog-walking, kayaking, tai chi, reading, collecting classic movie trilogies, playing flute, hanging w/ my peeps, traveling.... Life!

HELP WANTED

The Florida Bluebird Society is looking for a few good people to help expand its efforts to conserve and protect bluebirds and other federally protected cavity nesting bird species in the Sunshine State.

Specifically, the Florida Bluebird Society is looking for a volunteer who has experience publishing a monthly newsletter. Barbie Arms, the current editor, is doing an outstanding job, but would appreciate a volunteer who would help share the monthly opportunity to publicize the activities of the Florida Bluebird Society. This would include assisting in the writing, editing and layout. Specific responsibilities would be worked out between Barbie and the individual volunteering to serve as co-editor.

The Florida Bluebird Society also is looking for avid and knowledgeable bluebird enthusiasts who would be willing to share their experiences and expertise with other interested individuals. These volunteers would have the opportunity to help provide the best available information on creating and maintaining bluebird nest boxes in Florida. Individuals serving as a regional county coordinator also would have the added opportunity of meeting other people from their area who share their interest in bluebirds.

Of course, all volunteers would be expected to comply fully with the mission and policy guidelines of the Florida Bluebird Society.

15TH Annual Great Backyard Bird Count Friday February 17- Monday February 20

The Great Backyard Bird Count is an annual four-day event that engages bird watchers of all ages in counting birds to create a real-time snapshot of where the birds are across the continent. Anyone can participate, from beginning bird watchers to experts. It takes as little as 15 minutes on one day, or you can count for as long as you like each day of the event. It's free, fun, and easy—and it helps the birds.

Participation is simple.

1. Plan to count birds for at least 15 minutes on one or more days of the count.
2. Count the greatest number of individuals on each species that you see together at any one time
3. When you're finished, enter your results on their web page.

Visit www.birdsource.org/gbbc for full details. Let's get some of Florida's bluebirds included in this count!
